

PRESIDENT WILL BE JUDGE OF WHETHER SENATE HAS VOTED FOR ADOPTION OR REJECTION OF TREATY

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1919 by The Times Publishing Company.)
ENROUTE TO OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 26—President Wilson struck in Colorado practically the same kind of apathy that he found in Ohio, possibly there is today a revived interest in Ohio but it is nevertheless true that until the President or his leading opponent Senator Johnson of California started making a tour of the country most people had taken only a casual interest in the League of Nations and peace treaty. Colorado for instance has not been touched by Mr. Johnson at all and until Mr. Wilson came the only utterance of importance was by one Senator Thomas who indicated that he would support the covenant without reservations.

But the President did call the debate and awaken interest in the League of Nations by his speeches at Denver and Pueblo. The demonstration here at the Auditorium in Denver when he ventured the belief that he was speaking for the American people and had their support was a very impressive one. It is interesting to note that even in cities where scattering applause is given Mr. Wilson's arguments touch because the subject is one of world politics still academic and remote to most of his hearers. There is always an outburst of enthusiasm as the President makes a general statement expressing confidence that the people are behind him. It is evident to that the women are especially interested when he describes the terrible weapons of the last war and the even more destructive instruments that would be used in the next war. The desire to be rid of all war in the future is the angle of the argument that comes close to home and usually makes of the league of nations discussion something concrete.

And President Wilson is now hankering away at his opponents charging some of them with being anxious to destroy the treaty and league by the indirect means of attaching fakers and "reservations" that are really amendments. The President talks respectfully and courteously of the so-called "nihil reservationists" and it was only when a new draft of article 10 in the covenant was reported as agreed upon by Senator Lodge and the nihil reservationists that the President thought he detected signs of defeating the treaty by indirection. He decided it was time for him to make the issue clear. After declaring that "hypocrites are the knives that are being stuck into the document" the President issued a challenge at Denver to his opponents to "live the real reason for delay and defend his own future course in unshakable language."
"It is time that we knew," he said, "where we shall stand for or against the treaty when we go to the next step in the great controversy with the executive of the United States. When the Senate has acted it will be for me to determine whether its action constitutes adoption or a rejection. I do not wish to draw doubtful conclusions. I do not wish to do injustice to the process of any honest mind. But when that treaty is acted upon I must know whether it means we have ratified it or rejected it."
The foregoing paragraph is the key to the next step in the great controversy now going on in the Senate. Mr. Wilson, series believe that he has no objection to reservations that are as he says a "multiplication of words" by which "you can make simple words speak their meaning more distinctly." But he most decidedly opposes "qualifications" which mean asking "special exemptions and privileges for the United States."
In other words, the President while not saying it in so many words, reveals (Continued on Page Six)

Civil War In Italy Possible Outcome Of The Fiume Controversy

Plan For Incendiary Bomb Raids On London And Paris Stopped By German Command Because Of Military Situation

During Paris and London with incendiary bombs dropped from airplanes was the final form of ruthlessness that was in the minds of Ludendorff and other German military chiefs in the summer of 1918. They had an idea that this atrocity would inflame the minds of the Allies to pieces.

They dared not put it into effect, for their army was going to pieces and they saw they must beg for mercy.

Equally effective in halting the air scheme was the anguished cry from South Germany, which was feeling the effect of the system of air reprisals put into effect by the Allies. A constantly widening circle of German cities was learning what it meant to be bombed and German nerves proved far more susceptible than French and British.

So it was that Chancellor Hertling raised his voice against this frightfulness. He was a Bavarian. Bavaria was asking, in loud tones, with other South German peoples, why she should suffer for the ruthlessness of Prussia, while Prussia escaped.

Discusses Burian's Peace Note—Admiral Scheer Wanted To Speed Up Submarine Building; But Ludendorff Could Not Spare Men.

SAYS MEDIATION THROUGH QUEEN OF NETHERLANDS SHOULD HAVE BEEN SOUGHT

By GENERAL ERICH LUDENDORFF

Our position was now so serious (early in September, 1918) that G. H. Q. could not hope that air raids on London and Paris would force the enemy to make peace. Permission was therefore refused for the use of a particularly effective incendiary bomb, expressly designed for attacks in the two capitals, of which sufficient supplies were ready in August.

The large amount of damage that they were expected to cause would no longer have affected the course of the war, and sheer destructiveness had never been permitted. Count Hertling, too, had requested G. H. Q. not to use these new incendiary bombs on account of the reprisals on our towns that would follow. My views of the general military situation, however, were the real ground for the decision.

I retained the policy of ordinary raids on London and Paris, in order to immobilize enemy anti-aircraft material, and to prevent the troops noticing particularly effective incendiary bombs, expressly designed for attacks in two small raids were made on Paris, while London could not at this time be reached, owing to adverse weather conditions.

Deadlock In Strike

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 27.—The national committee for organizing iron and steel workers at a meeting here today ordered a general strike in the plants of the Bethlehem Steel Company to become effective next Monday morning at six o'clock.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 27.—Following a canvass of employees as they received their pay today, officials of the Union Works of the Carnegie Steel Company here announced that an attempt will be made on Monday to reopen the mill. The announcement marks the first effort at resumption in the Mahoning Valley since the steel strike caused all the plants to close.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first week of the great steel strike ended today with the situation of a virtual deadlock, while both sides in the world with keen anticipation for the Mahoning Steel Corporation is Monday, when it might be expected that the claims of the opponents' and the respective strength. Steel company's given any intimation of yielding and officials professed the fullest confidence that the opening of another preparations for calling out the men a week would see such defeat.

Workers in the ranks of the strikers that the back of the union's resistance strike in allied industries continue would be broken. Leaders of the but without definite basis on which to offer predictions that the ranks of their followers would not be seriously affected.

In the meantime the strike generally was collecting no efforts to break it.

BRITISH TRAINMEN ON STRIKE FORCE COMPLETE TIE-UP OF RAILWAYS

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The preliminary of this action given the impression of a deliberate and measured selection on the part of some individuals to seek a quarrel at any cost," said Premier Lloyd George in a statement today on the nation-wide railway strike.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—So far as could be learned at 10 o'clock this morning, the members of the National Union of Railway Men had walked out in a body and the stoppage of service was complete. Telephonic and telegraphic reports to the executive committee of the union from distant centers show that local branches are supporting the committee's action.

Railroad depots here were open this morning, but, with the exception of a few people who were not aware of the strike, they were deserted. Even official trains were delayed.

After reading the Associated Press dispatch quoting Frank Wilson, secretary of the Stenhouse steel strike committee, as saying he would be unable to prevent an invasion of West Virginia by the Ohio strikers, unless the strikers close by Monday afternoon, Governor Cornell today sent another telegram to Governor Cox of Ohio, demanding protection. In his telegram, Governor Cornell placed the whole responsibility for preventing the march on the Ohio executive.

MILITANTS AND SOCIALISTS MAY FIGHT FOR CONTROL

ROME, Thursday, Sept. 25.—Alarmist reports are current in this city, one of them being that a civil war is imminent. On one side would be ranged the nationalist and militarist factions, which will be opposed by the Socialists. Several generals are credited with the intention of heading the militarist faction with a view to controlling the government, if being said that they believe the weakness of those in power since the armistice caused the present deadlock.

Some of these generals have already been mentioned as being in league with Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio before the Fiume raid, with the object of overthrowing by force the Nitti cabinet and replacing it with a military dictatorship.

NAVY MORE DISSATISFIED
The navy is represented as being even more dissatisfied than the army, having, according to naval officers' statements, suffered more from the lack of consideration of their Anglo-French colleagues, who have held as if they were masters of the Adriatic and have favored Jugo-Slav claims.

Foreign Minister Tittoni is said to have expressed the belief that the first thing to be done in the present serious situation was for the cabinet to resign, thus eliminating one reason for discord—opposition to men now in power. It is said his intention was the formation of a national cabinet, including all the leaders of the chief political parties which would give the government the greatest possible power under the circumstances.

WANTS CABINET TO STICK
Premier Nitti, instead, considered that the resignation of the cabinet would be an admission either of weakness or weakness, which would make the situation worse. He added that he "naturally was ready and desirous to be relieved of the tremendous responsibility if any one would suggest a man better fitted to cope with a terrible crisis."

Signor Tittoni was obliged to content himself with a conversation with the king. It is reported that he did not see the king, but that he had a long talk with the king's private secretary, Signor Nitti. Thus the idea of a resignation of the cabinet was abandoned but there is no prospect as yet of any amelioration of the gravity of the situation, for there is a distant glimmer of a solution of the Adriatic problem.

Workmen numbering approximately one million, are on strike and dissatisfaction is growing everywhere at the constantly increasing cost of living. It is impossible for the government to call any more to the colors after having recently pardoned all deserters under the proclamation of amnesty.

SOCIALISTS AIM AT REVOLUTION
Strenuous efforts are being made by official Socialists to reach an understanding between the workmen and soldiers. They are urging the latter to refuse to obey either their officers or the government and they thus hope to organize in Italy workmen's and soldiers' committees which would lead to the formation of soviets and an upheaval of the whole social order. Nobody has suggested a remedy for this alarming state of affairs, but the hope is expressed that some unforeseen events may happen to give things a turn in the right direction.

THE YOUNG LADY ACROSS THE WAY

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS
(Copyright by McClure Syndicate.)

CINCINNATI with the celebration of the anniversary of the French victory at the Marne. The German testimonies from an unexpected source of the first installment of his comment on the World War. Von Treppe explains that the stand of the Allies which defeated the German advance left the ruins of the German army trailing on the ground. He says flatly that the Marne destroyed the only plan for the German invasion of France was defeated. He confesses that up to that moment the German army had been defeated by the single thought that it would not be stopped, and the arrest of the forward movement of the Marne was a terrible blow to the army leaders, which left them baffled and stunned as to the future.

This is so far as I know, the first complete German admission of the failure of the Battle of the Marne. It is worth while to recall that through the period of the war the German government and German sympathizers, openly maintained that there never had been a battle of the Marne, and a number, after having been the best of the French General Staff and having visited the battle field from Nancy to Meuse early in 1918 when countless evidences of the intensity of the struggle were still visible, an acquaintance of those who sympathized with Germany solemnly declared that there had never been a battle of the Marne and that the whole legend was a French fabrication.

The reason for all this German deception becomes even clearer with the French admission. The great German General Staff knew that it had lost the supreme strategic conflict of the war. The extent of the disaster was not the High Command, and it became from that point of view, a matter of life and death to preserve the prestige of the German High Command. To do this it was necessary to abolish the fact of the Marne itself. Therefore every agency of German influence, propaganda and publicity industriously labored to destroy the Marne as a historical fact.

In doing this, as in all else, the Germans skillfully used such truth as was possible. The Marne was long misinterpreted by Western public. It was not a great battle field. It was a mere as indecisive as Gettysburg. At Gettysburg Lee's great conception of victory for the war into the North failed. His effort to destroy the Union Army led him to a costly but he was repulsed. The Marne was similar. The German army was repulsed. The German army was repulsed. The German army was repulsed.

Now the fact of the Marne, as exposed to the world, was simple. The Germans after many years had formulated a great plan for the destruction of the military power of France. The invasion of Belgium was an essential detail, since it was impossible to use the numbers available on the narrow front of the Franco-German boundary, and the war would have inevitably degenerated into a struggle of positions on the Marne and the Meuse, and not the Meuse and the Lys.

The Markets

NEW YORK STOCKS
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Crude Oil, one of the sensational features of yesterday's stock market, was again conspicuous at the strong and active opening of today's session, adding almost seven points to yesterday's 17 point advance. General Motors, another leader of the previous session, gained almost five points and advances in other industrials, especially steel equipments and motors, ranged from one to three points. U. S. Steel was barely steady, but tobacco, oil and food issues gained one to two points, rails also making moderate advances.

Stocks during today's short but very active session, the significant feature being the strength of steel and other classes identified with that industry. Extreme sales of 2 to 10 points in those issues were largely retained, Crude Oil again leading. Motors and their specialties rose 2 to 5 points, equipments 1 to 3, with as much for oils, while shipbuilding gained 2 to 7 and sugars 2 to 10. Leather, textile and railroad issues joined more moderately in the movement but tobacco was irregular. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 650,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS
CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Wheat and evening up on the part of shorts tended today to rally the corn market, and so too did the fact that deliveries on September contracts had been smaller than expected. The opening which ranged from 1/2 decline to 1/2 advance, with December 12 1/2 to 1 1/2 and May 1 1/2 to 1 1/2, were followed by a moderate recovery all around.

Cattle showed independent firmness which was associated more or less with continued advances in foreign exchange rates. After opening 1/2 to 3/4 up, including December 8 1/2 to 9 1/2, the market sagged a little and then rose higher than before.

Provisions were lifted by the action of grain and hogs. The best demand was for lard.

Row Over Potato Crop Ends In Killing Of Constable Metzger And His Brother May Die From His Wounds

Bloody Tragedy Staged At Pond Run On West Side; One Victim In Hospital; Gun User Surrenders

Constable Louis "Dick" Metzger, 23, of Nile township, was shot and instantly killed and his brother, Earl Metzger, 29, was seriously wounded in a gun battle staged at Pond Run, 15 miles west of Portsmouth, with James Thompson, 21, late yesterday afternoon.

The fatal shooting resulted from a dispute over the right of the Metzgers to dig and take a portion of the potatoes grown on the lands of Simon Labold, of this city, by the Thompson family, the trouble occurring when young Thompson discovered the brothers digging the potatoes yesterday. The Metzgers were acting as overseers for the Labold land.

Earl Metzger, who was taken to the trouble with a Times man this morning, operating room at Hempstead hospital at eleven o'clock was on the operating table for over an hour. The most serious being one on his right side, the other being in the back. Shot which entered the side penetrated the right lung, the intestines and abdomen. Dr. Hopkins estimated that about 100 shot was in the man's body and said that very little hope was held for his recovery. Metzger came out of the anesthetic about two o'clock, but it was not yet out of danger. His wife, Irene Metzger, is at his bedside.

According to Thompson he and the Metzgers quarreled at various times the past summer over crops grown on the Labold lands and yesterday when he discovered them digging the potatoes a quarrel started and Thompson ordered them to leave the patch and settle the dispute by law. In the heat of the argument Thompson claims that Louis Metzger jerked his pistol and then Thompson claims that he "went out" until he went home and "puffed" out.

With this warning young Thompson went to his home a mile away, and received a single barrel shot gun returned and as he approached the Metzgers declares that Louis shot at him and then he fired, the full load of shot lodging in Louis' breast over the heart and he fell dead. Earl then is said to have stooped to pick up his wounded brother when Thompson fired at him, the shot lodging in his chest but not knowing that he was so badly wounded, grabbed Louis' pistol and started backing away into the weeds to get away when Thompson fired again, the shot taking effect in his right shoulder.

Found Unconscious Along Side of Road.

Thompson then left and Earl managed to crawl back up into the road where he was later found in an unconscious condition and removed to his home. After Earl was given medical attention by Dr. Hopkins he regained consciousness and in a statement to Sheriff Hickey and Coroner J. D. Hendrickson said that Thompson fired first and that his brother Louis emptied his pistol at their assailant after he was shot.

Dora Thompson, 25, a sister of the youthful murderer told the officers last night that she begged her brother not to have any trouble when he came to the house and started away with the gun. She accompanied him to the scene of the shooting appearing to him all the way to stay out of trouble.

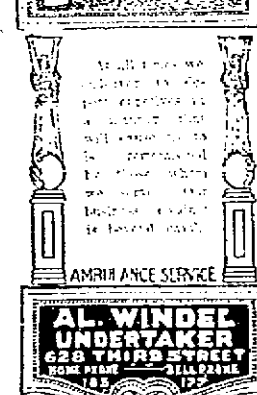

According to her version of the trouble the guns of the two men cracked at the same time.

The youthful gun user after the shooting, took over the hills for this city, arriving here about six o'clock last night and walked into the sheriff's office and surrendered.

He is the son of Frank Thompson and one of seven sons in the family. He was born in Adams county, April 9, 1895, and his mother died last Spring. The Thompson family have resided at Pond Run since 1860 and prior to last Spring looked after the Labold land.

JACKSON NEWS

JACKSON, O., Sept. 27.—Reuben Swift, aged eighty years, who was taken to the Athens hospital August 16, died yesterday. He was one of the sons of E. H. Swift, a leading merchant in Jackson county in days before the Civil War. During his last years, Swift lived almost like a hermit, for he was never married and had no near relative. When found wandering the night he was arrested, he had a certificate of deposit on his person and more than four thousand dollars in bonds were found among his effects. He also owned three houses.

Alfred Evans, son of Thomas J. Evans, has gone to Detroit, where he has secured a fine position. Thus the bill comes less to many of their best boys.

The happiest pair in Jackson county yesterday were William Hollberg, of Washington township, and Mrs. Mary Gibson, of Wellston, who were married by Mayor J. W. McGonick, of Coalton. Hollberg had been married twice, and is seventy years old. He is a native of Germany. The bride had been married once and is sixty-five years old.

Thomas G. Bennett, who had been visiting his family in Jackson county to Huntington yesterday.

John Jones, who left this county 50 years ago, came back after the emancipation to visit his nephew, Alvin Jones, at Glen Roy. His home is in Portland, Oregon, and he is eighty years old.

Frank White, who has spent his life at the old homestead down in Madison, has rented his farm and will move to a smaller place at Galt.

The hearing of the motion of William W. Fite for a new trial will be heard in Jackson Monday, Sept. 29, with Judge James S. Thomas, of Portsmouth, presiding. Fite was found guilty of forgery. He was indicted jointly with W. E. Fite and F. O. Fite. The others have not had their trials.

Rev. M. H. Rice, of Wellston, father of Mrs. Wade Clark, of Jackson, who suffered a second paralytic stroke last week, is recovering.

Miss Genevieve Bain, of Wellston, who spent the summer at Maple Grove, has returned to Columbus to take up her work in the School for Girls. Miss Wynolene Jones, of Jackson, is a student in the same school.

Clifford Callahan has resigned his position with the Jackson Mill & Lumber Co. to accept a similar position with the Morrey Manufacturing Company at Wellston and Glen Roush. Former clerk of courts, has accepted his position with the first national bank.

Mrs. Ada Clints, of Wellston, has gone to Mt. Clemens, Michigan.

Timber Case Being Heard

The injunction suit of J. E. York against the Harrison-Walker Lumber Co. is being heard by Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court today. The suit was brought to settle a dispute between the plaintiffs over their timber rights on a tract of land in Lawrence county owned by the plaintiff and under lease to the defendant for a long term.

The plaintiff contended that the defendant violated the terms of its lease by cutting live timber instead of using down and dead timber while the defendant complains that the plaintiff is rapidly cutting off all the timber from the land with a view of causing them to abandon the mine for the plaintiff's profit.

Quite an array of witnesses, many of them workmen in the mines and in the timbering business, are present in court today. Attorneys Miller, Miller and Scott for plaintiff and Messrs. J. F. Kinable and George M. O'Brien for the defense.

Flashlight

Almost Incredible Thinness.

Ordinary printing paper is something more than 1000 times thicker than the gold leaf that can be made today. For commercial purposes the least must of course have just a little more substance about it than that, but it is a striking and impressive fact that only about five grains of weight of gold is required to make up the thickness of a single sheet of paper today by gliders, each of the 25 leaves in that book being usually 15 inches square.

Phrase First Used by Johnson.

Dr. Samuel Johnson used the phrase "Father of Waters" before it was applied to the Mississippi river. In his twenty-fifth edition of Johnson's "Dictionary" the phrase "father of waters" is given as the "great father of waters, that is, the father of the Mississippi river."

According to the latest statistics of six large life insurance companies, compiled by an expert actuary for the American Society for the Control of Cancer, if one or even both of an individual's parents have died of cancer, that individual is no more likely than anyone else to die of the same disease. It is only a fact as to whether or not it is hereditary at all, contrary to an old belief.

STRENGTHENING

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 27.—The steel strike in the local district was in a state of quietness today with the mills here and at Mingo closed and interest centered on the threatened march of Steubenville and Mingo strikers to Weirton, W. Va., next Monday afternoon. If the Weirton Steel Company's plant there was still in operation, Secretary Frank Wilson, addressing a mass meeting for Weirton workmen who had failed to come out at the call last Monday, stated emphatically that such a parade would be held, that the men on the Ohio side of the river were determined and would march to Weirton five to eight thousand strong and that he could not prevent them from going. The authorities here have taken no action as yet to stop the proposed parade, but it is understood they will be ready to stop it Monday, if the parade is formed in this city. A bridge spans the Ohio river here leading to the West Virginia side. It is five miles up the river to the town of Weirton. Brooks, former chief of police at Clarksville, W. Va., has a police force of 125 men in Weirton and the company claims they have 500 additional men from their plants deputized for emergency. Sheriff A. S. Cooper, of Hancock county, W. Va., stated that he would do all in his power to stop any disorders, but that he sincerely hoped no such parade would be formed.

The county convention of the W. U. E. U. elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President Mrs. C. Chester A. Hyer, Secretary Mrs. R. C. Wilson, Treasurer Mrs. H. E. Ely, Recording Secretary Mrs. Louis Jenkins.

H. L. Stevenson of St. Joseph, Missouri who was visiting his sisters Mrs. A. E. Shattuck and Miss Nellie Stevenson at Wellston was called home yesterday by a telegram.

Mrs. Winnie McElricks and her daughters Katharine and Evelyn now residing at Ann Arbor, Mich., are visiting the family of her brother H. S. Willard at Wellston. All are well known in Scioto county.

THREE POINTS DEVELOPED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27.—Investigation to date of the steel strike by the senate labor committee, in an effort to ascertain "if the situation can in any way be relieved by federal action" has developed the following outstanding points:

FIRST—Declaration by strike leaders that agreement by the United States Steel Corporation to arbitrate differences with its employees would end the walk-out.

SECOND—Assertion by strikers' representatives that granting by Chairman Gary, of the steel corporation, of a hearing of their demands now would not end the strike.

THIRD—The view of organized labor that the issue is recognition of the right of employees "to be heard, to organize and to have some voice in determining conditions under which they labor."

THREE POINTS DEVELOPED

These definite points were brought out in the two days' hearing by the representatives of labor to appear, John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the strikers' committee, and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Having heard labor's side of the controversy, the committee next will hear the views of the operators in the industry. Judge Gary, of the steel corporation, will appear Wednesday, prepared to present that side of the controversy.

PITTSBURGH—Close of first week of steel workers' strike not expected to see any radical changes in the situation. Both sides virtually marked time waiting for Monday when both steel companies and strike leaders expect change.

YOUNGSTOWN—Plate department employees of Brer Hill Steel Company, vote against going back to work. Open hearth and rolling mills departments of the Ohio works of the Carnegie Steel Company, meet but fail to vote on question. Youngstown wondering what will be next move in attempt to settle the steel strike.

PRESIDENT WILL BE THE JUDGE

that while he should be both to abandon his original position in favor of an absolute acceptance of the treaty, as signed at Paris, nevertheless he sees that he cannot very well object to reservations that are simply a paraphrase of his own statements or interpretations in public speeches. Indeed he practically accepts what formerly was the position of the mild reservationists, though he thinks some of their suggestions are superfluous because already covered in the language of the treaty. It is when the mild reservationists appear to join the extremists in limiting the scope of America's obligation under the covenant that the President steps in and calls a halt.

PRESIDENT WILL BE THE JUDGE

People in the Senate may not think the President would dare to proclaim the rejection of the treaty but he feels so intensely on the subject that he will unhesitatingly do so if he thinks any reservations put into the ratifying resolution after the meaning of the contract in the treaty. When the President outlined his views at their first meeting, the President was uttering a warning in the Senate and the country as to the course which he would be compelled to adopt if the Senate charged the meaning of the treaty.

PRESIDENT WILL BE THE JUDGE

There has been much confusion over the use of the terms "ratification" and "adoption." As a matter of fact the actual role of the Senate merely "adoption" a treaty and it is diplomatic precedent for the President of the United States to perform the act of "ratification" itself by formal notice to other powers or by proclamation. If he considers that the Senate did not adopt but apparently rejected the part he would then notify the other powers that the United States Senate had "amended" the treaty and that he as signatory thereof must reopen the negotiations with a view to obtaining the acceptance of the amendments by

Returned Soldiers Day To Be Fittingly Observed In City

A parade of Soloto County's own—more than twenty five hundred veterans, sailors and marines of the first world war, followed by a band and an address by Lieut. Col. Roosevelt, who was one of the founders of the American Legion, will be one of the biggest days seen in the city. The parade will be the largest gathering of uniformed service men, ever held in this county. Every man will be urged to put on the khaki again so that the citizens who kept the "home fires burning" may see the man power and winner of distinguished service medals for bravery, has been invited to join by telephone Friday.

It is planned to have all the industries and places of business declare a half holiday, so that all may attend the celebration. Nelson Wilson, prominent attorney of Hamilton and Past Grand Officer of the Ohio Masonic Lodge, Chapter, Council and Commander, has accepted the invitation of Aurora Lodge No. 48 F. and A. M., to attend the centennial ceremonies, to be observed October 23, commemorating the one hundredth birthday of the local lodge. This celebration was postponed last year on account of the world war. Preliminary outline of the plans for the centennial includes a parade in the afternoon, a meeting at the local temple, a meeting at the High School auditorium in the evening, followed by a dance in District hall. The lodge at Lucasville, Tronon and Wheelersburg, which received their dispensation from the local lodge, will be invited to attend. Frank Vincent is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

DELCO-LIGHT was designed and built by men who were raised in farm homes—who experienced the discomforts and inconveniences of farm life—and who set out deliberately years ago to develop an electric plant that would provide city advantages for rural communities. They were the same men whose engineering talent had made DELCO Starting, Lighting and Ignition Equipment for automobiles the standard of the world— They knew electricity—and they knew the needs and limitations of farm life— They knew that an electric plant to give service in a farm home must be simple, so that it would not get out of order and require complicated repairs— It must be easily operated and require little attention— It must be very economical in operation— It must be built to stand hard usage and it must last indefinitely—

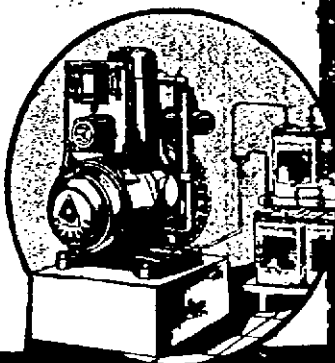

It required five years to develop a plant that would measure up to these specifications. There were five years of hard engineering effort back of DELCO-LIGHT before the first plant was put on the market three and a half years ago. Today DELCO-LIGHT is furnishing the conveniences and comforts of electricity to more than Seventy-five Thousand farm homes. It is providing an abundance of clean, bright, economical electric light for these homes. It is furnishing power to pump water, operate washing machine, churn, separator, vacuum cleaner, electric iron, milking machine, and other small machinery. And everywhere it is demonstrating its wonderful efficiency—and actually paying for itself in time and labor saved.

RECENT TROUBLES IN IRELAND FOUNDED ON PRISON CONDITIONS WHICH FOLLOWED 1916 REVOLT

Every Complaint Considered by Government Heralded as a Promise Given and Broken

Case Built Up by Able Propaganda—Each Special Privilege Granted Turned to the Benefit of the Worst Behaved Prisoners—Many Favors Demanded.

By TRUMAN H. TALLEY,

London, Saturday.

After the Easter week rebellion in Dublin in 1916 the jails and prisons of Ireland, and some in England, were crowded with men who had either surrendered or been captured in the week of fighting. Some of the leaders were put to death for treason; others, running into the thousands, were imprisoned. Prisoners were despatched to great batches to the various jails, but there was scarcely adequate accommodation for them all. Many were placed in cells by themselves, many others were concentrated in groups. It was failure to segregate them that caused much of the early prison troubles.

Much of the present day protest about prison treatment really dates from that period. No Sinn Féin prisoner who was in that great round-up will ever forget that the government did not have ample towels, bed linen and a neatly arranged cell all ready for him. The prisoners of Ireland were not prepared for such a house party, and if Sinn Féin really had cared to engage rooms in ample time to have them refurbished to its liking it might have notified the government. But revolutions do not work that way.

There undoubtedly were infractions of the usual prison rules in those troublous days. But when one takes the full measure of the significance of the Irish rebellion, one sometimes wonders that so many of the actors in that drama are still alive.

The prison troubles of today are not only the continuation and exaggeration of the former but also are ably maintained by the Sinn Féin prisoners and incarcerated after the Dublin revolt. Many of the men making the gravest accusations today are the men who were imprisoned then.

Charges on Old Conditions.

But the essential thing in all this complaining is that charges made today are based on conditions of three years ago. Conditions are improved today. For instance, charges are made today that prisoners are confined in batches, thrown in there for days awaiting summons or re-arrestment. The inference is given that such a state of affairs exists today. It does not. It is true that in 1916 men were confined in batches for days in cells that in no way resemble a hall room. But even a government constantly have on hand a dozen prisons, all completely furnished down to the last cell, lamp and even eagerly awaiting, after the fashion of the summer resort proprietor, a wide enough crime wave to fill them up.

There are plenty of prisons in Ireland, but there were not enough when the round-up of men who had killed soldiers and citizens with impunity for the duration of the bloody week got well under way. Men were put in batches and left in cells for uncomfortable days until the overzealous authorities could sort them out. However, it might be well to remember that men were also shot in batches along about that time.

The men who survived that period are only the prime movers in the campaign of criticism. In or out of prison they have constantly hammered on the one allegation that they were mistreated and have daily added converts, in prison and out, to their creed of prison procedure. Despite the fact that the number of men imprisoned today is very small as compared with the number in 1916, and despite the fact that the government's record of prison administration since then has been one of never ceasing leniency, Sinn Féin has, through incessant propaganda and with the backing of those sympathetic with their cause, built up what seems to be a much stronger and more damning case than ever before.

The truth is that the government, as represented by the administration, has strengthened its position and weakened the government. Every time the government has entertained or yielded a demand from Sinn Féin, the very transaction, whether resulting favorably or unfavorably for Sinn Féin, has been heralded to the world by Sinn Féin as a guarantee given by the government, but never fulfilled. Hints became promises. Suggestions became regulations. If Sinn Féin proposed a rule and the government authorities replied they would consider it, Sinn Féin proclaimed the government's acceptance of their demand, and when, as often as not, prolonged study by the government showed the proposal unacceptable, then Sinn Féin charged bad faith and broken word. Many, if not most, of the allegations (though misunderstanding is a mild word to use), that even granted that many of the charges made today might be true, there never should not be true in the light of what the prisoners and their party leaders have done.

Kept Up Organization in Prison.

These great batches of prisoners of the active rebellion maintained in prison, as they would, their organization that existed before and throughout the week of fighting. Men who were "commandants" of the Irish Volunteers in the earlier fighting days, in the week of the Dublin rebellion, were "commandants" in the jails. In the rebellion and in the jails, there were made other airtight, hermetically sealed cells, no one could enter or leave, and no one could be seen or heard. These were made other airtight, hermetically sealed cells, no one could enter or leave, and no one could be seen or heard. ### Dora Prisoners Removed to the Dundalk Prison

No Sooner Reached There Than They Demand the Quality of Food They Had Been Given at Mountjoy During Their Hunger Strike Convalescence.

By TRUMAN H. TALLEY.

London, Saturday.

A personality and thinking seriously of reaching an early date to one of those Irish prisons and there spend my later days in peace and contentment. I don't believe there is a report, hotel, restaurant or even a prison in America that affords such contentment.

The liberal "ameliorations" described in my last article worked for about a month, and a half before real trouble came. Either the outright generosity of it or the thin undercurrent but now well established obstruction plank in the Sinn Féin platform led the "political" prisoners to believe that all they had to do to gain the second hunger strike, prisoners of the Sinn Féin, classification again began troubling the prison authorities. When the number of Sinn Féin prisoners convicted of all the category of offences against the law in 1916 was time reached a considerable figure the government did two more bold but ineffectual things.

First of all, special prison was set aside for these men. It may have been done out of consideration for the prisoners and their previous demand or it may have been done because of the desirability of getting all these men under one roof, where uniform treatment could be better administered. The prison chosen was at Belfast.

Government Adds Short Set of Rules. The second thing the government did was to add a short but important set of rules to the above titled "ameliorations." It may have been expediency, but no truthful person can say it was not kindness.

The government, through the prison authorities, in March, 1918, granted the following added privileges, which now appear as a footnote to the earlier rules:

The undermentioned "special regulations" provide for an extension of ameliorations which may also, at the discretion of the prison authority, be granted on removal of the prisoner to the special prison set apart for such prisoners.

1. Freedom of movement within the prison precincts will be allowed subject to orderly behavior.

2. Unless otherwise directed, meals will be taken in the cells, and during meal times cell doors will be locked.

3. Cells will be locked at six P. M., by which time each prisoner must be in his cell.

4. Subject to the observation of order and to attendance at meals and presence in cells at closing time, association and conversation between prisoners is allowed.

5. Smoking is allowed under restrictions, by the medical officer for medical reasons.

6. Labor is not obligatory, but prisoners who elect to work can thereby earn remuneration of articles.

7. Two visits per week will be allowed.

8. These privileges are conditional upon orderly behavior and will be withdrawn from any prisoner who is guilty of misconduct. Such prisoners may be removed to another prison.

Never in Good Faith. If the prisoners had used the extensive privileges accorded to in good faith the concentration in Belfast prison would have settled much of the present controversy. But they never intended to accept anything in good faith. What they accepted they accepted merely as a step along some to something else.

Prison authorities heaved a short sigh of relief and very short it was—when the D. O. R. A. prisoners began their adjustment to the new conditions. They had had hunger strikes and plenty of food, part of which was prescribed by the prison physicians for their weakened constitutions and partly they had their freedom of movement for Sinn Féin prisoners. RULES FOR AMELIORATION OF PRISON TREATMENT

Crowd Of 2,500 Expected At Millbrook Sunday Afternoon

Biggest Audience Of Season To Witness Double Header, Teams Are Evenly Matched

While it is true that many Portsmouth fans will be disappointed in not getting to witness the Reds and Sox in their coming clash for world series honors, nevertheless that will all be forgotten, Sunday, when Gabe's All Stars and Charleston clash at Millbrook Park for semi-pro honors. The fans of the Peerless City are anxiously awaiting the call of the bell that will send these two teams in action. They want to see "Buddy" Beers with his war togs and "Irish" Conwell in uniform. Incidentally they have several fellows full of air, with which to greet these well known athletes who have often done deeds of valor for the home team while a member of the O. S. L. While these two worthies will be received with cheers, the fans will have plenty of lung power in reserve to hurl at Eddie Donalds, an adopted son of Portsmouth, who recently returned from a lengthy sojourn in the Texas League, where he was regarded as the premier pitcher of that organization. Donalds will pitch for the locals in one of the games tomorrow and there is no question but he will do a good job of hurling. He is in tip-top shape despite the strenuousness of the Texas League season, where he was called upon more than thirty times to face the enemy. Donalds has a lot of admirers here and is anxious to display his well known brand of war before a home audience. "Doc" Haggman, who has developed into a general all around favorite, will pitch one of the games tomorrow. He did a good job of hurling last Sunday when he set the Ironton team back every time they threatened and won out by the smallest possible score. He may be opposed by Pitcher Blake, the star box artist for the visitors and one who has sufficient stuff to entice him to a chance with the Cincinnati Reds, with which team he has signed a contract for 1920. Blake is a powerful hurler, possessed with uncanny speed and curves of the quick breaking variety. It will be interesting to see what the All Stars will be able to do with his delivery. Keans, a former O. S. Leaguer, will pitch the other game for the visitors.

DUNCAN SHINES

That boy Duncan kept up his good hitting against the Cubs yesterday, rearing a triple, home run and single in the two games. He is sure to be a big hitting factor in the big noise next week. This has surely won his spurs in Redland.

Redland Celebrates Winning The Pennant

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 27.—Today is one of jubilation for the Cincinnati National league baseball team and the moment "victory program" started out by Mayor Gatlin and other officials, President August Herrmann of the Cincinnati club and owner of the club, brought a banquet will be given in honor of the Reds, at which speeches will be made by Governor Cox, Mayor Galvin and prominent business men. The Chicago Cubs, now playing out the last series on the local grounds, were given a place of honor along with the Reds in the line. Following the two teams came members of the chamber of commerce, Business Men's Club, Rotary, Advertisers, and other clubs and civic organizations. Amateur baseball players of all descriptions numbering close to 2,000 presented one of the features of the procession together with 12 teams of the Port Thomas soldiers' league. Conspicuous in the parade were the automobile reserved for former Red baseball players of 1909, Cal McVey, right fielder; George Wright, shortstop; George Taylor, substitute catcher, and the former president of the 1909 club, John C. Davis.

CHEVROLET ENTERS SPEEDWAY RACE

Much gratification was expressed at the headquarters of the Cincinnati Speedway yesterday when a telegram was received from Louis Chevrolet, the noted driver, advising the officials that he was rapidly recovering from the burns he experienced when his car caught fire in the race at Sheepshead Bay last Saturday and he was compelled to drive the burning chariot for a mile or more before he and his mechanic could steer it into a zone where the fire could be extinguished. Chevrolet added that the work of repairing the car progressed rapidly and that he expected to have it in perfect running order again before the end of the week. Ready for the big race on Sunday October 5 Chevrolet was running a neck and neck race with his brother Gaston when his car caught fire at the 110 mile lap. He was compelled to stand guiding the car to its final stop. Harry O'Driscoll's car, to be driven by Waldo Stein, has arrived at the track and is making daily spurts around the oval. It is expected that the veteran driver, who now is a tire manufacturer and therefore disqualified as a driver will arrive here within a few days to assist in getting the car shape to develop its highest speed endurance. O'Driscoll has designed several changes in the car since its last race which are expected to add a few miles to its speed per hour, and both he and Stein are confident that, no unforeseen accidents occurring this fall, the racer will draw down a large percentage of the $20,000 purse.

FINDING A SCAPEGOAT

APPARENTLY the strike of the steel workers has been by no means as generally effective and paralyzing to the industry as those who ordered it, hoped for and predicted. Further than that it has not been accompanied by the violence and disorder so predicted by those opposing it.

One development is a common purpose on both sides to shift what ever of blame there may be in it on the poor ignorant foreigner.

The bosses claim there would be nothing in the strike at all were it not for the foreign element among the employees coercing the native to stay out, which is not altogether a credit to American courage and independence. On the other hand the leaders of the strike claim it is the foreign element that is leading in and producing such rioting and maltreatment of non-strikers as has occurred.

Both are a sort of propaganda. During the war foreigners were eliminated almost entirely from plants engaged in the production of war material. These have not returned in any great number, not sufficiently at least to overawe the natives everywhere and be the chief provokers and participants in every disturbance that occurs. They may be the most active and extreme but they are not everywhere dominant.

The truth about the matter, as our observation of similar situations leads us to believe that neither native, nor foreign employees are the ones principally responsible for the disorder and violence that all too frequently accompany these unfortunate labor and capital controversies, but rather a class of turbulent outsiders, who find just what they are looking for in lawlessness and confusion.

All this, however, is beside the fact that the strikes, such as that now under way, are a grievous hurt to the country and there ought to be some way in justice and fairness devised that would make them unlikely, if not impossible. Capital is sometimes rapacious and oppressive; labor is sometimes unreasonable in demands and misled. Between the two there is and must be a common line right and responsibility. To determine it is the great problem.

WHAT THE DIVISION MEANS

IN the Times of Thursday appeared a legal notice to the voters, notifying them that, at the November election, they would be called upon to accept or repudiate a constitutional amendment, calling for the classification of property for the purpose of taxation.

Many persons do not understand what this amendment, if adopted would mean. Perhaps, one common cause is that speaking of it as a classification of property for taxation, is somewhat indefinite, and carries the impression that it is a single tax idea, that is some property is to be taxed and other exempted.

This idea the proponents of the amendment insist is altogether wrong. The amendment does not contemplate they say that any property shall be exempted, but that it shall be taxed according to its kind. In other words, there shall be one rate for real estate, and another for personal property. Thus a man might be taxed a dollar on his land and 50 cents, more or less, on his horse or automobile. As it is a known fact that millions in personal property is not returned for taxation, the lower rate will reveal this hidden property.

Possibly, this is all true, but there is also another possibility that may be taken into consideration with the amendment: The power of making the classification is placed in the hands of the legislature and it can exempt certain kinds of property, say bonds and mortgages, if it so chooses. In fact, one of the impulses that lie back of the demand for classification is that it will do this very thing.

No argument is to be offered here as to whether or not it would be wise to put such a power in the hands of the legislature. The thought solely is to briefly make it clear as to what the amendment, if adopted, would really carry.

A thing that puzzles the stock market continuing firm and active with the great steel strike under way. Even the stocks representing the industries most directly have risen in price. One good lesson may be learned from the situation is the stock market is a good thing to keep away from at all times.

And the saddest thing of this melancholy season is that the days of the running car, which is no longer roasted, are about over. As for the watermelon, it is but a puny reminiscence of its former glory.

As is always the case with the Big 1, Ludendorff's account of the war stops many times to tell about himself and explain it all happened because he could not get "them" to do as "I" clearly saw it should be done.

THIS IS THE LIMIT, MAY BE

THERE is a mocking saying, expressed to him who complains much, it is bad, but I have seen it go that way a long time and then go worse.

This could be well be applied to the serial report of the examiner on city affairs, which has been running through the Times for several weeks. Every department has shown slipshod methods and numerous delinquencies and now the climax would seem at hand in the management of the cemetery. It might seem that as there is something about this place that appeals to our tenderest solitude, its affairs would be managed with exceptional regard and care. Exactly the reverse was the case.

Everything concerning the financial matters and responsibilities that hang there about were so badly mixed, muddled and mangled, by Superintendent Clinch, that nothing but an evil intent is to be extracted therefrom. Not only every business method but every rule prescribed by law and ordinance was flagrantly and continuously ignored. The examiner frankly confesses he can not state how much the city has lost because of this failure and a second failure of the director of public service to exercise any check upon the superintendent that there is no data from which he can start.

That ought to be amazing, but it isn't. Simply because so much slovenliness and disorder has existed in city affairs generally, that it was expected the story would run that way for a long time and then get worse.

Murder will out, 'tis said. The Red Book, to be issued by the new Austrian government, is whispered to contain the true story of the origin of the world war.

So far the strike hasn't touched the Peerless and it will be fortunate and happy if it did not.

A bad name will not keep a good man down. A Bugbee has been nominated for governor of New Jersey.

New - York - Day - By - Day BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Little Johnny, a middle west city. This particular newspaper was a kind of kindergarten, where anybody over twenty-five was looked upon as a Methodist. One of the result of the strike of actors, Johnny is attached to the editorial staff of Varieties, a theatrical weekly, which is to be published in the city of New York. Johnny talks on Broadway, through the pages of Varieties, in the White Way. When everybody on Broadway was wandering around white-faced during the tense days of the strike, Johnny, with his gallant pen and wrote what he thought of George M. Cohan.

Johnny writes in slang octaves, striking all chords of the humor of Broadway. He was for the actors and also for Cohan. He spoke right out and so tremendous was the appeal that one New York newspaper reprinted it on its first page and several others on their editorial pages.

Before this Johnny has been writing humbly little items about the boys of the city. The Fire House Sisters, Giltz and Giltz and Queenie La Motte and all the other two-day performers. Now he has had a dozen or so magazine offers to write in his own slang way on any subject he desires. With Johnny it was natural. He is an imitating thing, and as so many slang writers have done. When he calls money "sugar" he is speaking in his own language—the language of the Automat and the all night drug stores. He speaks of the actor as a "ham" with the same loving thought that a father calls his boy "Son".

Reading Johnny O'Connor would have left unknown outside of the world of vaudeville had it not been for the strike but now he seems destined to become a national character. His capacity for wit is best illustrated by the following little story.

O'Connor came out of the Claridge grill the other day after lunch and ran into Louis Mann. It was the third week of the strike. "By the way, Louis," inquired Johnny "whatever became of the show business?"

Merleth Nicholson, the Indiana novelist, was lunching with Ray Long, editor of the Cosmopolitan, in one of those those Danish pastry places that suddenly bloomed in the Forties the other day. They were discussing their old newspaper days in Indianapolis and then Long turned to the time when at the venerable age of twenty-three he became managing editor of a paper in

A Circleville newspaper, recently told the remarkable story of an editor, who at the age of fifty had acquired a fortune of $50,000.

This fortune was acquired by long years of toil, the burning of much midnight oil, many hours of labor, and worry, and severe fighting for the principals which he believed to be right, together with the timely death of an uncle, who left him $19,999.00.

CIVIL WAR NEAR IN ITALY, REPORT

Socialists And Militarists May Clash For Control

ROME, Thursday, Sept. 25.—Alarmist reports are current in this city, one of them being that a civil war is imminent. On one side would be ranged the socialist and militarist factions, which will be opposed by the Socialists. Several generals are credited with the intention of heading the militarist faction with a view to controlling the government. It being said that they have the weakness of those in power since the armistice caused the present deadlock.

Some of these generals have already been mentioned as being in league with Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio before the Fiume raid, with the object of overthrowing by force the Nitti cabinet and replacing it with a military dictatorship.

NAVY MORE DISSATISFIED

The navy is represented as being even more dissatisfied than the army, having, according to naval officers' statements, suffered more from the lack of consideration of their Anglo-Italian colleagues, who have acted as if they were masters of the Adriatic and have favored Jug-Slav claims.

Sharp Note Sent To The Germans

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The supreme council decided today to send the German government through Marshal Foch a note demanding the evacuation of Lithuania by German troops under drastic penalties for non-compliance.

The note informs Germany that her provisioning will be immediately stopped and the financial arrangements she has requested be paid if Lithuania is not evacuated.

Resignation of the cabinet was abandoned but there is no prospect as yet of any amelioration of the gravity of the situation, nor is there a distant glimmer of a solution of the Adriatic problem.

Workmen numbering approximately one million, are on strike and dissatisfaction is growing everywhere at the constantly increasing cost of living. It is impossible for the government to call any men to the colors after having recently pardoned all deserters under the proclamation of amnesty.

SOCIALISTS AIM AT REVOLUTION

Strenuous efforts are being made by official Socialists to reach an understanding between the workmen and soldiers. They are urging the latter to refuse to obey their officers or the government and they thus hope to organize in Italy workmen's and soldiers' committees which would lead to the formation of soviets and an upheaval of the whole social order. No body has suggested a remedy for this alarming state of affairs, but the hope is expressed that some unforeseen events may happen to give things a turn in the right direction.

Apparent Deadlock In Strike

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—At dawn of the sixth day of the great steel strike were:

1. Definition of the strike issue as the right of employees "to be heard, to organize and to have some voice in determining conditions under which they labor," made by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor before the senate committee in Washington.
2. Calling of a meeting of the strikers' national committee in Pittsburgh today to make final arrangements for the strike of 35,000 employees of the Bethlehem Steel company set for Monday.
3. Announcement that John D. Rockefeller Jr., principal owner of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company will take no part in the strike of 6,000 workers at the Pueblo plant.
4. Claim by union officials that workers in the Youngstown district at a meeting held to vote on the question of returning to work had decided against such a move.
5. Condemnation of "foreign agitators and commotion of Sheriff Wm. Haddock of Allegheny county by a coroner's jury in Pittsburgh which returned a verdict of "death from gunshot wounds inflicted by persons unknown while an attack was being made on deputy sheriffs during a riot," in the case of a woman organizer and striker who while steel workers claim had been "murdered" at West Natron, Pa.
6. Apparent deadlock marked by lack of violence apparently prevailing in the chief steel centers.

PITTSBURGH—Close of first week of steel workers' strike not expected to see any radical changes in the situation. Both sides virtually marked time waiting for Monday when both steel companies and strike leaders expect change.

BRITISH TRAINMEN ON STRIKE FORCE COMPLETE TIE-UP OF RAILWAYS

LONDON, Sept. 27.—So far as could be learned at 10 o'clock this morning, the members of the National Union of Railway Men had walked out in a body and the stoppage of service was complete. Telephonic and telegraphic reports to the executive committee of the union from distant centers show that local branches are supporting the committee's action.

Railroad depots here were open this morning, but with the exception of a few people who were not aware of the strike, they were deserted. Even officials of the Southeastern Railway admitted their service had ceased while railway trains had come to a complete standstill shortly after 10 o'clock. In the big freight yards motor cars driven by soldiers were carrying off perishable articles, which arrived on late trains from outlying sections.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Crucible Steel, one of the sensational features of yesterday's stock market, was again conspicuous at the strong and active opening of today's session, adding almost seven points to yesterday's 15 point advance. General Motors, another leader of the previous session, gained almost five points and advances in other industrials, especially steel equipments and motors, ranged from one to three points. U. S. Steel was barely steady, but tobacco, oil and food issues gained one to two points, rails also making moderate advances.

Crowd Of 2,500 Expected At Millbrook Sunday Afternoon

Biggest Audience Of Season To Witness Double Header, Teams Are Evenly Matched

While it is true that many, many Portsmouth fans will be disappointed in not getting to witness the Reds and Sox in their coming clash for world series honors, nevertheless that will all be forgotten, Sunday, when Gabe's All Stars and Charleston (Ind.) at Millbrook Park for semi-pro honors. The fans of the Portsmouth City are anxiously awaiting the call of the bell that will send these two teams to action. They want to see "Buddy" Deers with his war togs and lamp "Irish" Conwell in uniform. Incidentally they have several fellows full of air with which to greet these well known athletes, who have often done deeds of valor for the home team while a member of the O. S. L. While these two worthies will be received with cheers, the fans will have plenty of time to reserve to hunt at Eddie Donalds, an adopted son of Portsmouth, who recently returned from a lengthy sojourn in the Texas League, where he was regarded as the premier pitcher of that organization. Donalds will pitch for the locals in one of the games tomorrow and there is no question but he will do a good job of hurling. He is in tip-top shape despite the strenuousness of the Texas League season, where he was called upon more than thirty times to face the enemy. Donalds has a host of admirers here and is anxious to display his well known brand of war before a home audience. "Doc" Pangburn, who has developed into a general all around favorite, will pitch one of the games tomorrow. He did a good job of hurling last Sunday when he set the Irons team back every time they threatened and won out by the smallest possible score. He may be opposed by Pitcher Blake, the star box artist for the visitors and one who has sufficient stuff to entitle him to a share with the Cincinnati Reds, with which team he has signed a contract for 1920. Blake is a powerful hurler, possessed with unusual speed and curves of the quick breaking variety. It will be interesting to see what the All Stars will be able to do with his delivery. Kenna, a former O. S. Leaguer, will pitch the other game for the visitors.

CHEVROLET ENTERS SPEEDWAY RACE

Much gratification was expressed at the headquarters of the Cincinnati Speedway yesterday when a telegram was received from Louis Chevrolet, the noted driver, advising the officials that he was rapidly recovering from the burns he experienced when his car caught fire in the race at Sheepshead Bay last Saturday and he was compelled to drive the burning chariot for a mile or more before he and his mechanic could steer it into a zone where the fire could be extinguished. Chevrolet added that the work of repairing the car progressed rapidly and that he expected to have it in perfect running order again before the end of the week ready for the big race on Sunday October 6. Chevrolet was running a neck and neck race with his brother Gaston when his car caught fire at the 110 mile lap. He was compelled to stand in the car to its final stop. Gaston's car, owned by Waldo Stein, has arrived at the track and is making daily sprints around the oval. It is expected that the veteran driver, who now is a tire manufacturer and therefore disqualified as a driver, will arrive here within a few days to assist in getting the car in shape to develop its highest speed and endurance. Oldfield has designed several changes in the car since its last race which are expected to add a few miles to its speed per hour, and both he and Stein are confident that, no unforeseen accidents occurring, this new race will draw down a large percentage of the $50,000 purse.

Row Over Potato Crop Ends In Killing Of Constable Metzger And His Brother May Die From His Wounds

Bloody Tragedy Staged At Pond Run On West Side; One Victim In Hospital; Gun User Surrenders

Constable Louis "Dick" Metzger, 23, of Nile township, was shot and instantly killed and his brother, Earl Metzger, 29, was seriously wounded in a gun battle staged at Pond Run, 15 miles west of Portsmouth, with James Thompson, 21, late yesterday afternoon.

The fatal shooting resulted from a dispute over the right of the Metzgers to dig and take a portion of the potatoes grown on the lands of Simon Labold, of this city, by the Thompson family, the trouble occurring when young Thompson discovered the brothers digging the potatoes yesterday. The Metzgers were acting as overseers for the Labold land.

According to Thompson he and the Metzgers quarreled at various times during the summer over crops grown on the Labold lands and yesterday, when he discovered them digging the potatoes a quarrel started and Thompson ordered them to leave the patch and the dispute became a gun battle.

With this warning young Thompson went to his home a mile away, and secured a single barrel shot gun returned and as he approached the Metzgers declared that Louis shot at him and then fired, the full load of shot lodging in Louis' breast over the heart and below the neck. Earl then is said to have stooped to pick up his wounded brother when Thompson fired at him, the shot lodging in his chest but not knowing that he was so badly wounded, grabbed Louis' pistol and started backing away into the weeds to get away when Thompson fired again, the shot taking effect in his right shoulder.

Found Unconscious Along Side of Road.
Thompson then left and Earl managed to crawl back up into the road where he was later found in an unconscious condition and removed to his home. After Earl was given medical attention by Dr. Hopkins he regained consciousness and in a statement to Sheriff Hickey and Coroner J. D. Hendrickson said that Thompson fired first and that his brother Louis emptied his pistol at their assailant after he was shot.

Dora Thompson, 26, a sister of the youthful murderer told the officers last night that she begged her brother not to have any trouble when he came to the house and started away with the gun. She accompanied him to the scene of the shooting, appealing to him all the way to stay out of trouble. According to her version of the trouble the guns of the two men cracked at the same time.

The youthful gun user after the shooting took over the hills for this city, arriving here about 8 o'clock last night and walked into the sheriff's office and surrendered.

He is the son of Frank Thompson and one of seven sons in the family. He was born in Adams county, April 9, 1898, and his mother died last Spring. The Thompson family have resided at Pond Run since 1892 and prior to last Spring looked after the Labold land.

Young Thompson in discussing the trouble with a Times man this morning at the county jail, said his family had been lusted upon ever since they had lived at Pond Run and decided yesterday it must end. He freely talked of the shooting, but at no time did he express any regret over his rash act.

Yeast Brother-in-law Of Metzger Boys
Squire Orin L. Veary, of Burns Vista pike, near Pond Run, is a brother-in-law of the Metzger brothers. Squire Veary learned of the shooting shortly after it happened and hurried to the scene of the shooting and to the Metzger home. According to Mr. Veary the shooting occurred over potatoes. His story is that Thompson wanted potatoes on ground owned by Simon Labold and that Mr. Labold turned through Louis, his agent, in care of the ground, that Thompson wanted to pay for the use of the ground, and that while they were digging them Thompson happened on the scene. It is said that Thompson then returned to his home about a mile farther up the run and secured a shot gun, hurried back to the potato patch and then shot the two men.

Louis Metzger was born and reared on the West Side and for about fifteen years had lived in the vicinity of Pond Run. He was married about a year ago, but no children have been born to the union. Louis Metzger volunteered for service in June, 1918, but did not have to enter the service.

Motion To Exclude Children From School Suffering From Trachoma Fails To Pass

A motion to exclude all children from school who were suffering with trachoma and would not be treated was lost at the meeting of the board of education meeting Friday night for want of a second.

The motion was made by J. F. Purdum at the suggestion of Supt. Frank Appel. Both gentlemen thought that such a measure was necessary in order to effectively stamp out the disease.

Judge Purdum, the only other member of the board present besides the president, Mr. Scudder, stated that he was against such a motion, claiming that it was an infringement of rights. The present situation, however, is another proposition. Judge Purdum said. I am of the opinion that most of the trachoma in this city is granulated and I have reached that opinion only after exhaustive study. I will not be a party to such an infringement of the rights of American citizens.

The motion was lost.

The use of the gymnasium of the High School was granted to the Y. W. C. A. for their lecture series this winter. The dates granted were Oct. 17th, Nov. 18th, March 1, and April 9th. It was decided to have a course of instruction for janitors; but the details of this were left to the janitors with power to act.

Leo Hamner, representing the senior class of the High School appeared before the board with the request to erect a flag pole on the High School lot as a memorial to the class of 1920. The request was granted, and the pole is to be erected under plans and specifications approved by the building and repair committee.

A petition signed by 25 citizens requesting the installation of a kindergarten at the Union street school was referred to the committee on Teachers and Text books, who will report at the next regular meeting of the board.

Returned Soldiers Day To Be Glitteringly Observed In City

A parade of Scioto County's own more than twenty five hundred veterans, soldiers, sailors and marines of the great world war, followed by a band, a float and an address by Lieut. Col. Theo Roosevelt, today as he is called, and perhaps an out door movie, are included in tentative plans for Returned Soldiers Day, planned by the Board of Trade.

A committee from James Dickey Post No. 23, American Legion, comprising W. J. Keyes, Sherard M. Johnson, Ralph S. Marling and W. M. Thomas met Alan N. Jordan, president of the Board of Trade and discussed plans for this big celebration. The date and details have not been decided upon yet, but the American Legion has been assured that it is the "soldiers party" and will be one of the biggest days seen in the city.

Lieut. Col. Roosevelt, who was one of the founders of the American Legion a veteran of the big battles in which the Americans participated on the Western Front, wounded several times and winner of distinguished service medals for bravery, has been invited to come. Mr. Jordan extended the invitation by telephone Friday.

The parade will be the largest gathering of uniformed service men, ever held in this county. Every man will be urged to put on the khaki again so that the citizens who kept the "home fires burning" may see the men power furnished the army and navy. Every branch of the service will be represented.

It is planned to have all the industries and places of business declare a half holiday, so that all may attend the celebration.

Two places to hold the barbecue have been discussed. York Park and Millbrook park. Transportation facilities will possibly eliminate Millbrook park.

The local post of the American Legion will arrange for athletic events and some of the "army and navy stunts."

Centen Workers have promised their services for the barbecue. Members of the U. A. R., Spanish War Veterans and Boy Scouts will be invited to attend the barbecue.
